

Egypt to Firenze

by Angie

“Me again, Bro.

This time I decided on Egypt. Hard to know what to say about the place. It’s overwhelming, hot, crowded, full of exotic scents and grinding poverty under the shadow, virtually, of the wealth that built the pyramids and the wonderful temples.

Hot, too hot, too much. I stayed a few days and was glad to move onto my next destination.

Firenze - Florence of course - city of Michelangelo and Leonardo. City of pontes, piazzas, palazzos, loglias and sculptures that break your heart. Brick, marble and stone.

So much history here too, of culture and art, religion and war. Onward.”
