

Reminders

by Angie

Peter visited Vincent's chamber one evening, having heard about his tiny magnet collection. He pretended puzzlement.

"Didn't anyone ever tell you these are supposed to hold reminder notes?" he asked.

"Yes, Catherine did," Vincent replied.

"Well, perhaps it's time you actually used one for that," Peter grinned, handing his friend a small box as he left.

Inside was a tiny metal bound notebook and a package of refills.

Vincent regarded them closely, smiled, then picked up his fountain pen. On the first page of the notebook, he wrote, 'Remind Peter to remove the price sticker next time.'

