

A Place in Time

by Judith

“This is the place where you found me, Vincent?”

“Right here, below the roadway. I was walking through a deep mist. I heard a vehicle slowing down. These trees concealed me. I heard a door slide open, and something falling out, before the van sped away. I waited, but heard nothing more.”

“I remember the bitter cold. It felt like it was consuming my soul.”

“You were dying, Catherine. You’d lost so much blood. I feared you would not survive the night...”

“I think I died, Vincent. But your touch brought me to life again.”

“You are my life, Catherine...”
