

Beauty and the Beast Tidbit (100 words)

by Angie

Salty and Sweet

Vincent licked the warm, firm flesh carefully, savouring the salty taste with its hint of underlying sweetness.

Nothing could compare to this. He ran his tongue along a different spot and closed his eyes in ecstasy.

Catherine marvelled that he could make so simple a movement look so erotic. She bent over her chosen spot and ran her tongue along it.

“So delightful!”

He smiled, showing all his canines.

“How did we live without this?” Catherine asked.

“I don’t know, my love,” Vincent replied.

They looked at each other and sighed.

Then they closed their eyes and ate their pretzels.
