

One Night Forever

by Angie

'The starry floor, The watry shore', Vincent quoted. They were sitting on cushions next to the Mirror Pool, holding hands. They watched the star's reflections move across it, and quietly reflected on the joy of sharing another anniversary.

'Turn away no more', Catherine quoted from the same poem by William Blake.

"Never," Vincent stated emphatically, his voice echoing in the vast cavern. He poured them each a glass of wine, and they linked elbows, drinking together, unliking to kiss. It was daylight above, but here in the cool, starry darkness, they could pretend that this night would last forever.

